Mate get ready down on deck,
I'm heading to the shore;
I'll ris g the bell for I must land
This boat, forevermore. Sav, pilet can you see that light?
I do-where angels sisno?
Well, hold ber jackstaff hard on that,
For there I'm going to land.

That looks live Death a-briling me, So shasily, grim and pale; I'il toli the bell—I must go in, I never passed a hall.

Stop her; let her come in slow;
There; that will deno more;
The lines are fast and angels wait
To welcome me ashore. Say, pilot, I'm going with them
Up youder through that gate;
I'll not come ba k—you rir g the bell
And back her out—don't wait.

For I have made the trip of life, And found my land ng place; I'll take my so a and as chor it Fast by the Throne of Gence.

The process of making a screw is very steresting. The rough large wire in big olls is, by drawing through a hole small Then it goes into a machine that at one noment cuts it to a proper length and awdust and "rattled" and thus bright-ned. Then the head is shaved down ame othly to the proper size and the nick out in at the same time. After "rattling" sgain in sawdust, the thread is cut by another machine, and after another ratanother machine; and after another rat-ling, and thorough drying, the screws are essorted by hand (the fingers of those who do this move simost literally like eightning) grossed by weight and packed for shipping. That which renders it pos-sible for machines to do all this is a little hing that looks like and opens and shuts like a goose's bill, which picks up a single screw at a time, carries it where needed, holds it until grasped by something else, and returns for another. This is about the most wonderful piece of automatic holds it until grasped by something else, and returns for another. This is about the most wonderful piece of automatic kill and usefulness I have ever seen, and it, has done its distinctive work at the rate if 31 screws per minute, although this rate is only experimental as yet, 93 gross per day, however, has been the regular work of one machine.—Providence (K. row had by some means incurred the displeasure of a pair of red-breasted robins, uested in a tree near Rawson Hall. A dight took place between the sparrow and information obtained. EMINENT WILMER BRINTON, M. D., Baltimore, writes: "I have used Colden's pluckily until all at once one of the robins flew off while the other kept up the dighting. The robin messenger soon returned with a piece of cord that was soon wound around the sparrow's neck and the end held in the bill of one of the executioners. This done the sparrow was forced off the edge of the robin. Thus situated the sparrow was comparatively helpiess, and in a short time hung suspended by the neck, dead. After holding their victim and picking him until assured that he was beyond resurrection, the victorious robins flew to their pest in the tree, singing merrily as though glorying over their vanquished foe.

Bishop Haven's Fathetic Farewell.
Bishop E. O. Haven, who was Chancelfor of the Syracuse University when he was recently elevated to the Methodist Episcopate, made a pathetic address at the reception given in his honor by the citizens of Syracuse and the faculty and students of the University. In closing his voice was choked with emotion as he said:
"In a few short weeks I shall be a wanderer on the face of the earth. Already I have my appointments. I shall be obliged to visit Tennessee, Kentucky and Pennesylvania, and be present at four con erensylvania, and be present at four con erensylvania, and be present at four con erenthe face of the sarch. "In a few short weeks I shall be a wanderer on the face of the earth. Already I have my appointments. I shall be obliged to visit Tennessee, Kentucky and Pennsylvania, and be present at four con erences in Texas. The most time that I can hope to spend in what I cail my home will be three or four months. But wherever I shall go I shall often think of you. I have lived here as long as I have ever lived anywhere. But I feel now as if I must say, 'Good night to Syracuse, and good morning to San Francisco.' That is where I must soon take the remnant of my family."

"Framps Abroad." Mark Twain, in his new book called "Tramps Abroad," tells how a party of tourists got wet, and what they did when they came back to the hotel: "We strip-ped and went to bed, and sent our clothes down to be baked; all the horde of soaked tourists did the same. The chaos got mix-

The shirt they brought me was shorter than the drawer, and hadn't any more than Mr. Darwin would call radimentary sleeves; these had edging around them, but the bosom was ridiculously plain. The kilt silk undershirt they brought me was on a new plan, and was really a sensible thing; it opened behind and had pockets in it for the shoulder blades; but they did not seem to fit me, so I found it a sort of uncomfortable garment. They gave my bobtail coat to somebody else, and sent me an ulster suitable for a giraffe. I had to tie my collar on because there was no button on the foolish shirt which I described a little while ago."

Much Sickness,
Undoubtedly with children, attributed to other causes, is occasioned by worms.
Brown's Vermifuge Comfits, or Worm Lozenges, although effectual in destroying worms, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child. This valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians, and found to be absolutely sure in eradicating worms, so hurtful to children. Twenty-five cents a box.

Allow a cold to advance in your system and thus encourage more serious maladies, such as Pneumonia, Hemerrhages and Lung troubles when an immediate relief can be so readily attained? Boscher's German Syrup has gained the largest sale in the world for the cure of Coughs, Colds and the severest Lung Diseases. It is Dr. Boschee's famous German prescription, and is prepared with the greatest car.

About one hundred persons witnessed a curious spectacle at Lausingburg, N. Y., recently. It was nothing more or less full stopping place for passengers on route than a bird execution. An Euglish spar-
